FACES OF PPA

We need to stop accepting "good enough" and pursue greatness all the time. That said, you have to enjoy what you do because the second you lose that joy, you'll stop doing what you need to excel. And we need to do something every day. We can't stand still—we're either moving forward or backward. That's one reason I push myself and enter photographic competition at every level. Such competition changed my life, as did surrounding myself with people that inspire me, encourage me...and are constantly on my back, refusing to let me fail. That education, fellowship and drive are the most valuable benefits I've received from PPA.
